The Comsewogue Public Library, its Board of Trustees, and Administration continue to closely monitor all developments pertaining to the Coronavirus COVID-19 Pandemic.

International, Federal, State, and County guidelines, best practices, and recommendations are being observed in daily library operations as we undertake a myriad of appropriate measures toward seeking to prevent the community spread of COVID-19 (such as sanitizing touchpoints with an EPA-COVID-19-approved cleanser).

As of today, the Library remains open, observing its regular schedule, with no event cancellations.

We remind vulnerable patrons, those who don't feel well, and those with underlying health conditions, as well as anyone exhibiting symptoms of respiratory illness to reconsider, out of an abundance of caution, visiting the Library during this time.

In order to protect the health and well-being of the public and staff, it may be deemed appropriate/necessary to restrict specific Library services.

We may also determine it warranted for the Library to close temporarily, intermittently or for an extended period of time, depending on the circumstances facing us.

While we appreciate that such actions may cause community disruption and disappointment, such steps would be taken to seek to preserve the health and safety of all involved.

We'd like to remind you of the many online services available 24/7 for all ages at www.cplib.org.

We will continue to plan and keep you informed of the latest developments as they impact public Library services in our community.

We ask for your patience and support as we work together as a community.

Thank you for your consideration.
